

Dear Parents

My name is Karen Paullada, and I trained as a classical actor at LAMDA. I am an actress who has worked extensively in theatre and TV and I am most known for playing the role of Nadine on "Stella", Sky one.

I am still actively working in the profession as a writer and actor.

My daughter attends St Clare's and so I wanted to offer individual classes for LAMDA exams and small drama classes where we would work on scripts and monologues to develop individuals talent.

The benefit of drama classes/LAMDA exams are:

- LAMDA exams give points towards UCAS forms
- Confidence building
- Clear speaking and clarity of voice
- Public speaking skills
- Personnel character development

(Introductory LAMDA exams can be taken from the age of five years old).

I believe the benefits of drama in building a child's confidence is monumental and an important aspect to any child's development, whatever they decide to go on and do in the future.

Please feel free to email me at karenpaullada@hotmail.com and I will be happy to answer any questions you might have.

Kind regards

Karen Paullada
